

ARIES WINTER 2021 TRANSCRIPT

JANUARY

So January 2021, you start the month with Mars, your ruler in your first house. So that does give you some extra boost and sex appeal as well. This will last until January 6. So make use of that first week as Venus, the planet of love will be in your ninth house at end of that week as well. And that could mean the people that you attract with this kind of animal magnetism will likely to be foreigners or from travel, or from classes that you're taking. Educational classes. Could be a teacher. So yeah, that's where you probably might have the most success with dating.

Then around January 9 there's quite nice cluster of Mercury, Saturn and Jupiter in your 11th House of friendships. So now the Saturn Jupiter conjunction, I have to say, is so good. It's such a nice conjunction in terms of getting the best out of these these planets because they are the traditional ruling planets that are the most effective, really. And also, what I like about them is, unlike the outer planets, (ie Uranus, and Pluto,) they are a little bit more easy to assimilate as concepts. They're not personal personal, but they're also not spaced out! They are also very challenging in an evolutionary way, just as the outer planets are. So they're easier to digest but they still push you to evolve and develop as well. Now with mercury being with them too it will at least help you download their message.

So having Mercury in the 11th house, this message could come from friendships, and also anything that inspires you to think a little bit outside your normal, everyday life. It is it is about reaching for your dreams. Mercury in the ninth I think, that's a really good period for thinking in wider terms. And because Mars has gone into your house of money now. And it's no longer in your first house. It is about putting your money where your mouth is as well. So investing in ideas, if you put time into something, time is money as well. Mars will be in that house until March 6. So it's plenty of time to really get into investing in your future.

Mars in your second house of money, it does mean that cash will flow out quite quickly. So you got to make sure that you're actually putting it into something that will grow rather than just spending on things that don't really do anything in the future, You know, frittering it away and just burning a hole in your pockets. That's what Mars in the second house can do. So during January, we have Mars, squaring Saturn as well, which will be from your second house and Saturn is in your, in your 11th House of friends. So you may find that you are restricted in terms of social life, spending money on friends or spending money with friends. Also, your hopes and dreams you might have to make sure they are realistic before you really go for it. But the good thing about this aspect is is quite the axe wielder. Because it can really put a lot of strength, stamina, and determination into a project.

So if you want to start something and build the foundations of a new business, this is a great opportunity to do that. So that's January 13. And that is also the same day as a new moon in Capricorn, which is in your 10th house. So perfect, perfect day to really rise to the challenge and start something new. And also, Aries is not known for having stamina, so maybe this Saturn square to your ruler Mars will actually be quite productive for you. Now we have Jupiter square Uranus, the first of three that we have this year so the whole flavour of 2021 is going to be this Jupiter square Uranus. Now what do these planets have in common? They're both about freedom. They're both about expanding horizons, and no limits really. And when you have the square as well, the square shows that if you do want these freedoms, you're going to really have to fight for them. And sometimes it can be just too much freedom and not knowing when to stop.

But I think the restrictions that are put on this, and this expansion could be a good thing. But it could also be describing technology that goes too far that is destructive. Change for the sake of change, just constant constant change without reflection. So with this, this Jupiter square Uranus, it takes place in the same houses that I just mentioned, with Mars square Saturn. So this is interesting. This is like "What does Aries do, when you've got this opportunity to invest in, say, a technology company, or something to do with travel." It's knowing when to stop and whether things have gone too far. And whether you have to rein back and let things develop more organically, because this could just be going very inhuman with the technology. That's something just to bear in mind. Then on the January 20 Mars conjunct Uranus, which is fireworks in your cash house! So just be careful because I think that Aries could fall prey to some get-rich scheme, or they could kind of explode emotionally because their self esteem has taken a bit of a blow as well. Now, everything is really happening in decan 1 of Aquarius, and also Taurus too. So Decan 1 Aries are going to get the sextile from Saturn and Jupiter.

I think Aries will probably do best with the energies and know how to balance the growth with the restriction and pace themselves. It's all about pacing yourself this month, then we have a very psychedelic conjunction between Ceres and Neptune. And for you that takes place in Pisces. So it's in your 12th House of mysticism, that's actually probably the best place for it. Because it is like taking LSD. So it's probably best that it's in an area where you can't knock into pointy furniture or operating heavy, heavy machinery. So if you're in a padded cell, you can't do much damage! But no, I mean really seriously. It's probably a good time to go on some sort of retreat, because you'll get lots of insights then. If you're into taking entheogens and mind altering Herbs, then I think you'll get some really good insights on January 21. I think don't do it in public and have your own spiritual retreat on that day. January 23 we get Mars square Jupiter, which again, takes place in these same houses. Jupiter in the 11th house of friendship, hopes and wishes. Mars again is going to be in your house of cash.

So again, it's going to be this 'how do I balance my impatience with earning money and wanting to spend and invest with waiting for the right deal? Because also Jupiter being in the 11th house, you may have friends around you saying, "Oh, that looks amazing. Go for it. Go for it." And you're thinking, yeah, I want to but, I heard in my astrology that I shouldn't be doing that. And I should be a little bit more careful. So yeah, be careful. Listen to your astrologer! but again, if you are brave, if you're someone who just doesn't want to listen to the astrologer, and you really do think "you know what, I can transcend the astrology!" And if you're brave enough to do that, good on you. It's all about confidence and actually if you're that convinced, then go for it.

I'm not one of these astrologers that say, you can't do it, because I don't think, that's beneficial if you if you are a risk taker, because some people are, and some people can get away with it. And you may just be that Aries that does. So that Mars square Jupiter. Yeah, maybe go for it. And then you see, you've got the full moon in Leo after that on the January 28. And that's going to be in your fifth house of love affairs, and leisure and children. I just think at that time, at the end of the month, have some fun! Enough of the hard work. I think the whole of January is very much an entrepreneurial energy for you, and getting the balance right between spending and aiming high. There's a lucky touch because, especially for Aries decan 1, they really have Jupiter and Saturn on their side. And they can get the good balance between the caution of Saturn and the expansion of Jupiter.

FEBRUARY

So the main thing for February is Mercury Retrograde which will take place in your 11th house of friendships. So you may get an old friend making contact with you again, or you may want to contact friends you just haven't seen for a long time and have a nice reunion, childhood reunions, school reunions or with old work colleagues. Also is a time to reevaluate your hopes and dreams, and just get aligned with what you really want and not get sidetracked by things you don't want. A really good focus point for this will be the new moon, which will be in Aquarius as well. And that will be on the 11th of February. That'll be during the mercury retrograde as well. So very, very handy. And that Mercury Retrograde will actually widely conjunct that moon as well.

So it all takes place between 16 to 23 Aquarius. So if you are a if you're an Aries that has anything around those degrees, and that will be even more harmonious and helpful towards you because it's a sextile to your sun or Ascendant(if you're reading it for your Ascendant). On the 13th we have Mars sextile Neptune which is so dreamy and lovely. Mars is going to be in your second house of self worth. So when it makes that sextile across to your Neptune in your mystical 12th house. I think it's a really good time with making use of Neptune being in Pisces in your 12th house. Now I know this has been a very long transit anyway, but it only really gets activated when Mars (Especially) can make a connection with it. That Mars is your ruler as well. It gives you a nice spiritual download. So make use of that on the 13th of February the day before Valentine's Day so it should be an extra romantic Valentine's Day for you this year.

Now the next important aspect is Saturn square Uranus. Now this is another of the big aspects of the year. Jupiter square Uranus happens only once, that is in January, but the Saturn square Uranus will happen a total of three times so this is the first one and actually lasts all year, on and off. But this is the first one and it will take place in the house of friendship plus the house of money and self esteem. So with this one though, Saturn square Uranus, this is when freedom has to have some limits to it and it is about trying to get the right balance between duty and freedom. And with these, where they're positioned, the freedom we all want is basically to spend money! The constrictions will come from friends. But it is also about being realistic about those big dreams that you have as well. With last month's Jupiter square Uranus, that was more like, "I see no limits", whereas this is going to tell you where your limits are.

There has to be a balance there has to be a growing up really, because the thing is with Saturn square Uranus: Uranus is very dark Dionysian and it doesn't like obeying rules, basically. With Saturn square, Uranus, it's like rules are being laid down. Uranus wants to break them. And there has to be some kind of compromise here. So it could be that your friends are the ones who are saying to you, "I think you're going a bit over the top. And they will be the ones who put the Saturn brakes on things. But listen to them, because maybe you're just not seeing things clearly. Uranus, in your house of cash, obviously, it's going to be there for a long time. It's seven years to be precise. It's like the seven year itch every time Uranus changes signs.

So during this next seven years, money could be come from unusual places. And you have to learn to adapt to the fact that it's going to make income very unpredictable. But the good thing is, is that you probably may think of some unusual ways to make money so that it does come from unexpected sources. And there's always that chance that it could have an unexpected boost on your income as well. So it's not all bad news. It doesn't have to make everything volatile and unpredictable. Just as long as you say to yourself, "okay, I know money is going to come somewhere from somewhere, I just don't know where from." So just don't rule out things as well. But at the moment, though, with this Saturn, squaring it on February 17th, that will help you be realistic as to where these Uranus flash-in-the-pans are going to come from. It's a little bit of a gamble as well. But see what happens on that day, see if something does come unexpectedly. And if it does, then just count yourself lucky. Yes, it worked!

Now, of course, you have got to remember that you're still under Mercury Retrograde as well. So that could be what's slowing things down. Friends would be forcing you to review things before you sign them. And just be careful. Then you can really go forward with everything. When Mercury goes direct, which is on the 20th of February, on the 21st Ceres moves into your own sign. Yay. Now that's very fertile. And it moves on from the energy being mainly spiritual, and being at one with the earth, which is what how it was when it was in Pisces. Now it's in your first house. So could be a time where you actually become pregnant if that's what you're looking to do. If you're a male, you may hear that you're going to become a father.

But otherwise, Ceres is pregnant with possibilities as well. Great for gardening. Now Ceres has got a very strange orbit because some years it's in one sign for the whole year practically. Other years Ceres speeds through and this year is one of those years when it goes through three signs. So Ceres will be in Aries from the 21st February to May 7th. That's a very spring like and blossoming energy anyway, very useful for gardening, if that's what you're into. Then on the 24th Mars Trine Pluto, this is useful because it's Mars your ruler. It's in your second house of money still. And it's going to make the trine to Pluto in Capricorn. So that's fantastic because Pluto in your career house, Mars in your money house. What can go wrong? Nothing. It's perfect.

So now that Mercury's direct again, you can really push forward with any ambitious schemes. And yeah, just go for it in terms of your business. It will also give you real confidence. If you're not someone who's an entrepreneur or cares too much for making money then your personal power is really, really high. So use it, don't lose it. Also, it's a great one for building courage as well. And willpower, too. Because the thing is with Mars, as you know being Aries, it's that it is not the most patient planet! But Pluto does slow it down a bit. Pluto and Mars kind of understand each other, they're both rulers of Scorpio, so they've got that kind of Scorpio energy in common, so for you Aries, you can become a little bit more Scorpio and a bit more cunning in your schemes. Rather than wearing your heart on your sleeve and sometimes giving the game away. So hide your plans a little bit more. The problem with Aries a lot of the time is the naive honesty that happens sometimes, and people can use it against you. So try and do this martial arts thing with Mars trine Pluto and learn a lesson from your Scorpio brothers and sisters.

Then the full moon on the 27th is in Virgo, which is your sixth house of health and day job. And in the old days, it was a house of slavery. So if you do feel like a slave in your bread and butter job, then you could feel quite emotional at this time. Because, whatever health problems you have, like if you are overworked, if you haven't been having enough sleep, if you haven't been looking after your health, you could have a meltdown during this time. Take the time to get some good rest. And stand up for yourself! Aries are ruled by Mars, so they shouldn't have that much trouble with that. But if you're one of those timid Aries, you do get them you know, with Mars compromised, or being held back by Saturn or something like that. Use this period to focus on becoming as Aries is as you possibly can. And yes, it may mean that you do lose it, you do lose your temper.

But that's the thing with with the Aries chart, if we're reading this (Horoscope) for rising, then it's the classic chart. The sixth house resonates with Virgo. So it is the house of service to others. And Virgo can be a bit of a doormat, has to be said. But their (Virgo) good side is being selfless. And of course, Aries has a reputation of being quite selfish. So it's getting a balance. Maybe you need to learn to be a little bit more humble. And maybe that's what happens during this full moon. But otherwise, maybe you have to learn to become MORE Aries, it's one or the other. You will feel quite triggered at this full moon in your daily work. And you may come down with an illness, but only if you've really been ignoring your body's signs and running yourself into the ground.

MARCH

So March not such an active month in terms of big transits. But Mars going into your third house. That's concentrating on things like your local neighbourhood and also studying. So at least money won't be burning a hole in your pocket anymore, there won't be so much cash flowing away. You can put energy into your local environment so you are much more gregarious with neighbours. Studies are great with Mars in the third house too. What's really good for study is Mars will Trine Saturn later on in the month 13th of March is a new moon in Pisces, which makes it a low key month anyway because it's the month before your birthday. So you should be really winding down hibernating a little bit because then it's spring and Aries really does spring into action in spring with the sun at the spring equinox as well.

So take this opportunity to go into your cave. Do some meditation, get as much rest as you can, so that you can really party in April. Ofcourse the sun goes into Aries on the 21st of this month. And that will be with Mars trine Saturn as well. You really do leap out of your cocoon on the 21st raring to go. It's a very sociable time for you because Mars is going to be in that third house of local things. And Saturn will be in your 11th house of friends. So those two together, nice links, get out and socialise. February 28 this a really interesting day because we get the full moon in Libra, your house of relationships and Mars also conjunct the north node in Gemini. Your local area again. So that activates a kind of grand trine really. The full moons at 8° Libra, and the Mars/North Node 14° Gemini. Nice with Saturn at 7° Aquarius. There's a nice flow of energy between all your air houses, which are all relationship houses, really. What's nice really is Saturn in your friendship house, is old friends, while making new ones in your neighbourhood. Bringing old friends in or making new, mature, sensible friends as well, that can tame you a little bit really. Giving you more stamina, and encouraging you to do things for the long haul. And also encourage you to have more patience as well! So it's all very grounding influence from that.

But yeah, the north node Mars conjunction, really forces you almost to get on the right path. It could come by just doing something really impulsive, like going somewhere different from where you normally do in your neighbourhoods and bumping into someone. You could even literally just bump into someone, even like an accident or something like that. Not not a serious one. But like, just dropping something and somebody picking up for you something little. Something that's very Marsy. Could be some sort of sports gathering as well. Or even an argument! You could have an argument with someone queuing up for something and then end up actually being all right with them. A strange impulsive, road-rage incident that could change your life perhaps.
